brought out in documents ordered printed last winter. When the late William L. Marcy was Secretary of State there was an attempt made at taking about the annexation of the islands, the effort being in line with the Democratic policy."

Mr. Stevens then touched on the present state of things on the islands and on his famous act of ordering the landing of the United States marines.

He said that even had no request been made to him by the provisional government, the marines would have been landed and the city saved from danger of fire or plunder.

He acted under the last instructions touching on that subject issued by the State Department, the letter of Secretary Bayard to the Minister, holding the Minister and Commodore of the United States fleet there responsible, not only for the preservation of American property and the safety of American citizens, but for the good order of the city.

"Have you seen any occasion to change your opinion as to the course you took?"

"I have not," said Mr. Stevens.

He said he should stand by what he said in his address before the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, his address to his fellow citizens after his return to Augusta, and his recent note to the Secretary of State.

In conclusion Mr. Stevens said he did not regard the position taken by the administration as the policy of the Democratic party. It will be true to its historic policy, which is to be summed up in these words: "We must have the Hawaiian Islands."

THE FRENCH CHAMBER.

The Government's Programme for the Session Just Opened.

PARIS, Nov. 21.—At the opening of today's session of the Chamber of Deputies, M. Casimir Perier, president of the house, made a short speech congratulating France upon the Franco-Russian alliance.

M. Dupuy, the prime minister, then read the government programme. The ministry, he said, would oppose the proposition for the separation of the Church and State, the country not having returned a majority in its favor. It would also combat the re-establishment of the system of voting by list, justifying this stand on the results obtained by district voting, and would oppose an inquisitorial progressive income tax.

The government, he said, would oppose socialists and collectivists and allow no change to be made in the educational or military laws.

The prime minister promised that bills would be introduced providing for hygenic reforms, the care of abandoned children, the establishment of co-operative societies in which laborers shall share in the profits, the conversion of the 4½ per cent. rentes, reform of alcohol tax, for a settlement of the Bank of France question, for a re-organization of the police so as to give the public guarantees against anarchists, and for the regulation of the manufacture, sale and transportation of explosives. Measures respecting the liberty of association were also promised.

The announcement was greeted with cheers by the government supporters.

M. Dupuy, upon finishing his reading, invited the Chamber to immediately discuss the programme. A vote was taken on the question and it was carried 291 to 221.

M. Jaures, Socialist, opened the discussion. The statements just made by the prime minister, were, he said, a declaration, not a programme. M. Dupuy had merely announced a war against the Socialists.

New York Stock Market.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Money on call has been easy, ranging from 1 to 1½, last loan at 1½, and closing offered at 1½. Prime mercantile paper 4½@5½ per cent.

The railway and miscellaneous speculation was decidedly strong to-day and the usually active issues scored gains of ½ to 4½ per cent. American Sugar was the leader of the market, rising from 92½ to 96⅞, nearly 95,000 shares changing hands on the way up. The story was that a prominent trader who covered his shorts yesterday was a large buyer on private advices from Washington to the effect that the proposed tariff bill will show no particular change so far as the American Sugar company is concerned. The Grangers were in better demand, the declaration of the usual dividends by the Northwestern and St. Paul Railway companies having disturbed the shorts. That Northwest earnings for October showed a gain of over 10 per cent; was another disappointment to the bears. Northwest rose to 105; St. Paul at 61⅝; Rock Island to 68½; and Burlington to 80⅛. Near the close the whole list moved up and the market left off strong with a net gain of ⅛ to 4⅛ per cent. for the day. The total sales were 300,817.

Railway and miscellaneous bonds were active and strong.

Exchange on London, 4.83@4.83½. Sight drafts, 4.85½@4.85¾. Bar silver, 69¾.

Permanent Republican National Headquarters

ESTABLISHED IN WASHINGTON.

It Was President Harrison's Plan—Joseph Manley Will be in Charge—A Plan to Limit Southern Representation.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Mr. Joseph Manley of Maine, dropped into the city and left for New York last night.

During his stay in Washington he consulted with some of the party leaders here, and as a result of the conference it was decided to establish permanent headquarters for the Republican national committee here. As Mr. Carter, the chairman, is detained in Montana by his business affairs, the work at headquarters will be under Mr. Manley's supervision. While General Harrison held the office of President of the United States, he repeatedly urged the leaders of the party to adopt the Indiana plan of permanent headquarters at the Capitol. The plan has worked so well locally that he believed it would be even more successful if applied to the field of national politics. For some reason President Harrison's suggestions were not adopted, but now the clever men of the party believe that the time has come when they should be.

During the sessions of Congress Mr. Manley will have the advice and co-operation of Republican members of Congress, and he will at all times be in communication with the State and county committeemen of the various States. It will be the purpose of the committee to begin at the outset a campaign of education, which will include not only the sending of documents to Republicans throughout the country, but furnishing to the small country papers, letters and other information. The National committee will also, through Mr. Manley, co-operate with the Republican Congressional committee during the campaign of next year and with the League of Republican clubs, of which Mr. J. S. Clarkson is president.

The meeting of the executive committee of the National committee will be held next month, but whether in New York or Washington has not been determined. At that meeting an endeavor will be made to formulate a plan looking to a decreased representation from the Southern States at future national conventions. Some of the Republican leaders feel that the Southern delegates wield an influence to which they are not entitled. It will be argued at the meeting of the executive committee that the representation from each of the Southern States as are hopelessly Democratic States, for example, that can by no possibility give their electoral votes to a Republican candidate for President shall by reduced to two delegates each. In border States like Missouri, where the Republicans sometimes control several congressional districts, the full representation will be allowed. If the executive committee are influenced by these arguments and adopt a resolution in keeping with them, their action will not be conclusive, but will have to be passed upon at the next meeting of the full committee, where it will no doubt be fiercely combatted by the committeemen from the States affected.

AN IMPORTANT CASE.

The Union Pacific, Denver and Gulf Suit Before Judge Hallett.

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 21.—The suit for the appointment of a receiver to carry out the provisions of the traffic contract of the Union Pacific, Denver and Gulf road with the Union Pacific company was continued to-day before Judge Hallett of the United States Circuit court. F. M. Taylor, attorney for the complainant, ex-Governor Evans, continued his argument begun yesterday. He argued that since the consolidation under the agreement the Gulf line had been operated in the interest of the Union Pacific and that contracts of the movement of freight made prior to the consolidation were not carried out, to the detriment of the Gulf line. He insisted that the agreement was a scheme and a conspiracy on the part of the Union Pacific management for the purpose of stifling competition which had existed before the agreement was signed. The removal of the headquarters of the company to Omaha and Boston was in violation not only of the agreement but the charter provisions as well.

Mr. Willard Teller for the defendant company insisted that the interests of Mr. Evans, holding only a half million of the thirty-two million dollars of stock of the Union Pacific Denver and Gulf, did not entitle him to a standing in a court of equity and that his only recourse was in an action at law instead of an application for a receiver. He argued that the consolidation had been legally brought about, and that the annual meetings of stockholders in Denver was sufficient to maintain its charter.

Mr. J. M. Thurston of Omaha in his closing argument said that while it might have been to the interest of the Gulf line prior to the consolidation to foster trade by way of the seaboard route, with the admission of the Northern and Western lines into the consolidation, it was then the best policy to favor the all rail route by way of Omaha. The Union Pacific holds more stock in the south line than does Mr. Evans and yet he of all the other stockholders is not satisfied with the present management. The Union Pacific at great expense has expended great sums of money in betterments for the Gulf route and in all its management has saved that company from dissolution. He will conclude to-morrow.

Mineral Lands in Minnesota.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—A. L. Gray, a special agent of the general land office, who in October last was sent to the Rainy Lake region in Minnesota to examine into the mineral character of the lands, has made his report to the commissioner. His conclusion is "that the country in the vicinity of Rainy Lake is distinctly a mineral country, valuable only for the minerals, and unfit for any other purpose whatever.

Gold is the chief mineral found, although he learned that silver was also found to some extent. He therefore recommends that township 71, north of ranges 20, 21, 22, 23 and 24 west, Minnesota, be reserved except for mineral entry, until a careful examination of each particular tract can be made and officially classified.

In Denver's Opium Dens.

DENVER, Nov. 21.—Hattie Caldwell died in a Chinese opium joint at an early hour this morning, either from the effects of an overdose of the narcotic or from poison self administered. A girl named Ada Lewis and three young men, who accompanied her, were arrested and locked up until bail could be se...

closed. The men gave assumed names and their desire to go slumming is now thought to be a ... purpose, pulliation of their real names. The police, hunting for the Chinese proprietor, to-day, unearthed a labyrinth of underground passages, heretofore unknown, and the police board demand full investigation of the case. An inquest will be held.

ALL FOR IMMIGRANTS.

Western Railroads May Establish a Bureau in New York.

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—No immediate decision was reached to-day at the special meeting of the Western Passenger association in regard to the regulation of the immigrant business. A great majority of the roads are in favor of the adoption of the report of the committee recommending the establishment of a clearing house in New York through which all the immigrant business should pass. The intention is that this clearing house should be under the supervision of the chairman of the Western Passenger association and an advisory committee, to be elected by the association, to act with him in making an equitable division of the business among the roads.

Two roads, however, are opposed to the adoption of the plan, and it is doubtful if their opposition can be overcome. These are the Wisconsin Central and the Chicago Great Western. Their objections are two fold. One reason they have for opposing the plan is the expense of the maintenance of the clearing house in New York, and the other is they fear that the strong lines will be able to manipulate matters so as to secure the bulk of the business.

The other roads contend there are no grounds for either of these objections. They claim that the maintenance of the clearing house will be very much less than the excessive commissions the roads have heretofore had to pay on the business; and as the business is to be divided, share and share alike, it is the weak roads that will be the gainers by the plan. An adjournment was taken till Thursday, by which time it is hoped the objections of these two roads will have been overcome.

The Burlington road will put a change of time in running its trains into effect December 3, by which the time from Chicago to Omaha will be shortened forty minutes and that from Chicago to Kansas City fifteen minutes.

The Lehigh Strike.

WAVERLY, N. Y., Nov. 21.—The tie up on the Lehigh Valley is more complete to-day than yesterday. The employes have used no violence, the men quietly abandoning their trains as they came in.

Many more men are out to-day than yesterday, and very few men are coming forward to take their places.

AN EXTENSION PROBABLE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—The Tribune to-morrow will say:

"All the conditions point to an extension of the Lehigh Valley strike to-day. In spite of the seemingly neutral position taken by the officials of the Central railroad of New Jersey, there is the strongest likelihood of a sympathetic strike of the Central's employes to-day or to-morrow.

DIRECTUM WON.

The Much Talked-of Race with Alix Finally Took Place.

FLEETWOOD PARK, N. Y., Nov. 21.—The great match between Directum and Alix for a $5,000 purse was won here this afternoon by the former in three straight heats. It attracted about as thoroughly a representative gathering to the New York Driving club's pretty track as probably ever entered its gates even in its palmiest days. There were not as many persons present as the management anticipated, but the crowd, however, considering the lateness of the season and the coldness of the day, was quite large. The day was an ideal one for trotting. There was a light breeze blowing that affected the horses wind as they went directly in its teeth. The followers of Alix did not materialize when the speculation on the race opened. Never before probably was such a big event decided with so small an amount wagered upon the result.

Directum won the first heat by two lengths, the second by three lengths and the third by a dozen lengths. Time, 2:15¾, 2:16¾, and 2:18. Directum was not urged or driven. The time made is phenomenal when the weather and atmospheric conditions are taken into consideration.

Lynching at Ottumwa.

OTTUMWA, Iowa, Nov. 11.—An excited and angry mob lynched Fred Gustaveson by hanging him to the stair railing of Justice Truitt's court room at 2:30 this afternoon.

The victim raped a little 4 year old girl of Jonas Sax about 10 o'clock last night. The brute was promptly arrested shortly after committing the crime and lodged in jail.

At 2 o'clock to-day Gustaveson was taken quietly to Judge Truitt's office for arraignment. The news spread rapidly along Main street that the man was in Truitt's court room and in less than twenty minutes a crowd of perhaps a thousand was surging around the stairway trying to get at the prisoner.

The mother of the little girl succeeded in getting to the top and from the platform on the front of the court room swung a rope, and, together with her aged father, appealed to the crowd to low to hang Gustaveson. Sheriff McIntyre and Mayor K. Force appealed to the crowd to disperse but all in vain. The mob was for revenge swift and certain.

A number of men succeeded in gaining admission to the court room and a terrible fight ensued between the mob and officers. The mob succeeded in getting the rope around the man's neck and in a few seconds he was dangling from the railing of the stairs. He was left hanging about ten minutes, when the rope broke, letting him fall to the pavement.

The lifeless body was quickly picked up by the officers and put in a wagon and taken to the jail, the mob running pell-mell in that direction. At the jail it required the report of a committee to satisfy the people around the jail that the man was dead. After this they quickly dispersed.

A Battle Reported.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—A certain news agency in this city gives publicity to a report that another engagement has been fought between the British South Africa company's forces and the Matabele under King Lobengula, and that the natives defeated the whites.

The government has received nothing to confirm this report.

A Real Snow Storm.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 21.—The first real snow storm of the season began falling at an early hour this morning, and at a late hour to-night still continues. The storm is general throughout the northwest. Several points in the State report a fall of from four to six inches. To-night it is growing much colder, and it is said a real Minnesota blizzard is on.

NOTHING BUT GOLD.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE FEAST.

Leading Democrats Rejoice Over the Downfall of Silver—Senator Hill Discreetly Absent—A Very Successful Banquet.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—The annual dinners of the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York are always of more than local interest, and the one hundred and twenty-fifth banquet at Delmonico's this evening was no exception. Men of national repute were present, and not only were the affairs of the city and State discussed, but the policy of the nation was foreshadowed by numbers of its high representatives. No fitter ... and no fitter place could have been selected than the Chamber of Commerce dinner to-night for utterances which must attract the attention of the whole country.

Had not the noted men been present who were expected until the eleventh hour, the occasion would have been even more memorable. Senator David B. Hill accepted an invitation to attend and a place was reserved for him at the head of the table. He declined at the last moment. Those who did attend formed one of the most notable gatherings ever brought together by that ancient and honorable body known as the Chamber of Commerce. Men of every profession gathered in the assembly rooms of Delmonico's and rubbed intellects before taking seats at the flower decked tables.

Secretary of the Treasury Carlisle was there. Also Comptroller of the Treasury Eckels. Great Britain was represented in the person of Florence O'Driscoll, member of Parliament from Monaghan, one of the whips of the Liberal party.

President of the Chamber Charles S. Smith presided. It was just 7 o'clock when the dinner began. It lasted a little over two hours and speech-making was then in order. The president of the Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Charles S. Smith, introduced Mr. Carlisle in these words:

"Gentlemen—The question of silver repeal so recently decided by Congress, was the most important which has challenged the attention of the country since the close of the civil war. We are glad to welcome to our board the Secretary of the Treasury, who through the long contest threw his great influence in favor of a just decision. The Hon. John G. Carlisle will respond to the following: 'Commerce demands and the honor of the country requires that the obligations of the United States shall be paid in coin current in any market of the world, and that this question shall be settled for all time and beyond all controversy.'"

[The substance of Mr. Carlisle's speech will be found in the editorial columns. —ED.]

Mr. Smith then introduced the Hon. William Walter Phelps, who spoke at length of the changes he had noticed that had come over the nation and its people during his four years' absence in Germany.

Mr. St. Clair McKelway, editor of the Brooklyn Eagle, spoke briefly to the toast "Municipal Government, the Question of the Hour."

Rev. Dr. Patton, president of the Princeton University, responded to the sentiment "Enlightened Public Opinion: the Indispensible Safeguard of Government by the People." The Hon. Joseph Outhwaite spoke for "The House of Representatives" and then letters of regret were read from President Cleveland, Lord Aberdeen, Governor General of Canada, Senator Sherman and others.

Denver in Darkness.

DENVER, Nov. 21.—To-night the city is in semi-darkness, because of the issue between the employes and managers of the Consolidated Electric Light company on the wage question. Because of dull times the company wants to cut wages of all help from 10 to 20 per cent., and the employes decline to work at a reduction. The strike came promptly when the new rates were promulgated. Buildings having independent electric light plants and the gas company are in luck. There is a great trade in tallow candles this evening, and the streets are in darkness, even the moon in sympathy, perhaps, being obscured by heavy clouds.

The Shadow of Free Wool.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 21.—The Joseph Turner & Sons worsted manufacturing company, one of the largest concerns of the kind in the country, assigned Tuesday to Henry H. Stevens and Joshua Turner. The mills of the company comprise alpaca and worsted mills. About five hundred people are employed when the mills are all running. John G. Turner is president, and Joshua Turner is treasurer of the concern. The mills were closed down Tuesday, and there will be great suffering among the employees unless they start soon.

The assets of the company are $500,000 and the liabilities between $350,000 and $400,000. The Broadway Savings bank has mortgages on the property aggregating $16,000. A dyeing establishment in Ravenna is included in the Turner assets.

Parliamentary Proceedings.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—In the House of Commons to-day Mr. Snyder Buxton, Parliamentary Secretary of the Colonial Office, said in reply to a question, that Lobengula, the Matabele king, had been informed that his safe conduct would be secured and that he would be treated with consideration if he surrendered.

Mr. Walter McLaren, member of the Crewe division of Cheshire, moved to include among the electors mentioned in the Parish Councils bill married women who would be entitled to vote if they were single.

The Right Hon. Benj. Fowler, president of the local government board, made a counter proposal to disqualify married women except when they are duly qualified as rate payers. The Right Hon. Leonard H. Courtney, Unionist member from Bury, said that though hitherto he had opposed the giving of the privilege to vote to women for party purposes, he considered the proposal moderate, as before a women could obtain the right to vote she must be rated. If a woman lived with her husband the latter must be rated. They were therefore dealing with the question of married women living apart from their husbands.

The Right Hon. A. J. Balfour, Conservative leader in the House, held that the change proposed was an important departure. If the House assented to the government proposal, it would give up all hope of drawing a distinction between married and single women, not only in relation to municipal and local franchises, but in relation to the parliamentary franchise.

Mr. McLaren withdrew his motion.

Mr. H. W. Foster, Conservative, asked the government if the admiralty would detach a warship to co-operate with the American warship Kearsarge in destroying derelicts menacing safe navigation of the Atlantic.

The Rt. Hon. A. J. Mundella, president of the Board of Trade, promised to inquire as to what the United States government was doing in the matter.

OFF TO BRAZIL.

The New Dynamite Cruiser Starts Out to Look for Mello.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—The tug Wallace B. Flint went down to the Brazilian cruiser Nictheroy to-day to take off Captain Zalinsky, who has been training the crew in the use of the big dynamite guns. The tug landed the captain on his return at the foot of Wall street.

Captain Zalinsky says that the new cruiser sailed a little before 4 o'clock. Her destination was not known even to her commander, as she was under sealed orders. The captain said that every man of the crew seemed entirely satisfied, and even enthusiastic over his mission. No fear was evinced either at the prospect of an encounter with one of Mello's warships, or of accident in handling the dynamite guns. The gun worked splendidly, and the men selected to man it showed remarkable aptitude. They had used dummy projectiles in the practice, and these, although of wood, were thrown about a mile and a half. The cruiser turned out to be an excellent gun base, the bed put on her for the gun carriage steadily withstanding the strain of the recoil, which was as great as when the real projectiles are being thrown. The Fiske range-finder worked to a charm. This will be the first time that the range-finder will have been used in actual warfare.

Asked how it happened that the Yarrow boat broke adrift from the Nictheroy yesterday morning, the captain said, that so far as he was aware, no one on the vessel knew.

The captain is stopping at the Grand hotel, and will remain in New York until the retiring board, appointed by the Secretary of War—which meets here—acts on his case.

A HANDSOME STRUCTURE.

Such Will be the New Industrial Building at the Institute.

Pease & Barber, architects of this city, have completed the plans for the new industrial building at the Deaf and Blind institute, which they were commissioned to prepare some time since. In another part of this paper will be found a notice to contractors asking for bids for construction. When completed this building will be a great improvement to the State institution and will fill a long felt want. Here the unfortunate charges of the State will learn industrial trades which will fit them to take their proper places in the world.

The new building will be located just north of the present buildings. It will be 110x52 feet in size, two stories in height with a basement, and will be built of stone. It will be similar in architecture to the present buildings. The last legislature appropriated $25,000 for improvements at the institute, including this building, so that it will cost complete within this figure.

In the basement of the new building will be the broom and mattress shops, a storage room, and the bakery and laundry. All of these will be fitted with the latest improved machinery. The first floor will be devoted to wood-working, including a cabinet shop, machinery room and an office for the superintendent of industrial work. The second floor will contain the printing department of three rooms—composing room, press room and job room. On this floor will also be the shoe shop. The attic will be used for storage.

The building will contain an elevator and all modern improvements. The contract will be let on Dec. 5.

An Awful Moment.

Said an old railroad passenger agent: "I know what it is to live a year in two seconds. When I was a mere boy, crazy for railroading, I went out as a freight brakeman. One day our train was on a siding waiting for an express to go by. I went ahead to the switch. Now, I wasn't thinking of switches, trains, or anything in the world except a certain person whom I was expecting to meet at the other end of the run. I went to that switch whistling and thinking of this something else. I unlocked the switch, threw it open, turned my back to it and watched the express train grow larger as it swung down the long grade toward me. I saw it, but I wasn't thinking of it until it was almost upon me. I noticed the engineer jump from his place in the window. The whistle for brakes helped to arouse me. I turned to the switch, and then it dawned upon me that the switch was open and that the express train was headed for the siding.

"I jumped against the upright and the train went by on the main track.

"The engineer's face was white through the coal dust. I had no time to lock the switch. I simply lay against it until the last car had passed and then I dropped in a faint.

"That engineer knew me and never reported it. If he had, I wouldn't have been in the railroad business today.

"Since then I have some pity and sympathy for men who make what seem to be criminal blunders. You can't tell why they do certain things at the wrong times. They can't tell themselves.—Chicago Record.

A Bath Without Towels.

Many people will be surprised to hear that a great number of our professional athletes look upon a cold bath, without the aid of towels, as their principal aid to health. The method is to take a cold sponge bath every morning immediately on rising and then, while dripping wet, to draw on one's flannel singlet and pants. The bather then starts walking up and down his bedroom at a smart and even pace. He is soon bathed in a most delicious perspiration; and in about five minutes finds himself deliciously fresh and as dry as the proverbial bone. His underclothing is perfectly dry as well, and he can finish dressing at his leisure.

Young people will find this a healthy and delightful practice, however strange it may seem at the first blush. Mr. Paul Cinquevalli, the renowned juggler, equilibrist and athlete, ascribes his years of unvarying health and his muscles of iron to this method of bathing without towels. —London Tit-Bits.

Bismarck's Tartness.

A story concerning Prince Bismarck has just been brought to light by the publication of the memoirs of the late Duke of Somerset. The duke, writing of Dr. Busch's book of gossip about the great German chancellor, relates that Busch was employed by the prince to prepare articles for the newspapers and to record his sayings. One day Busch sent to the newspapers something Crown Prince Frederick had said, upon which Bismarck sent for the doctor and expostulated: "I told you to publish what I said, not what that fool of a crown prince says." "Well," replied Busch; "may I publish this saying of yours."

NO EXTRA SESSION!

In the face of the strongest protests from all classes—merchants, miners, capitalists, politicians, lawyers, members of the House and Senate, Republicans, Democrats, Populists and non-partisans, Governor Waite persists in his scheme of calling the legislature together.

What the Governor's plan is, remains a mystery, though the idea most prevalent is that it involves some kind of State coinage of silver. Certainly it is nothing reasonable, nothing that will help the State; nothing we believe that the legislature is likely to adopt.

The common name for a person who thinks and acts different from other people, contrary to his own interests and to theirs, is crank; but the scientific denomination of such a condition is insanity. Better men than Governor Waite, from George III down, have been removed from public duties for this cause.

The first duty of the legislature in its extraordinary session should be a joint resolution providing for a commission of legal and medical experts to enquire into the mental condition of Governor Waite.

TIME FOR AN EXPLANATION.

It is high time for the President to take the country into his confidence and make an explanation, if he can, of the course of the Administration in the matter of Hawaii. Mr. Blount has made a report, and Mr. Gresham has written a letter, both saying that Queen Liliuokalani ought to be restored, and Mr. Willis has gone over to Honolulu and assured the Provisional Government of the unaltered good will and cordial respect of Mr. Cleveland; and all three have spoken to all appearances for the Administration.

It is time for Mr. Cleveland to let us know what he means. Are Blount and Gresham representing the Administration, or is Willis? Did Willis go to Honolulu to pull down the Provisional Government and set up the Queen, or not? Let us have an end of this useless mystery and flummery.

SECRETARY CARLISLE'S SPEECH.

Mr. Carlisle made a speech last night at a banquet given by the New York Chamber of Commerce. It was all about money. He began by saying that money and its representatives constitute the tool with which the merchant and the banker perform their parts in the numerous and complicated transactions necessarily occurring in the growth and development of our trade at home and abroad. After going on awhile in the Philadelphia Ledger style he mentioned the fact that the value of our trade with the people of other countries during the last fiscal year was more than $1,700,000,000. More than $1,100,000,000 of this was with the people of Europe; about $100,000,000 with Asia; and only $16,000,000 with South America. From these figures he drew the inference that this country cannot long maintain its present position as one of the most conspicuous and important members of the great community of commercial nations which now controls the trade of the world, unless we preserve a monetary system substantially at least in accord with the monetary systems of the other principal nations.

Then he went on to say:

There can be no international legal tender without an international agreement, but there must, from the very necessities of the case, always be a common basis upon which bargains are made and a common currency in which balances are settled. No one nation can determine for the others what that basis shall be or what that currency shall be. It may establish a currency for itself and for the use of its own people in their domestic trade, but the value of that currency will be ultimately measured and conclusively fixed by the international standard whatever that may be. The stamp on its coins attests their weight and fineness, but it adds nothing whatever to their intrinsic value, and nothing whatever to their exchangeable value in the markets of the world, so that a nation's stock of international money always consists of the uncoined bullion and the bullion value of its coins. It cannot augment its stock of such money to any extent whatever by overvaluing either gold or silver in its coinage laws, nor can it diminish its stock to any extent by undervaluing either metal. While the number of its nominal dollars, shillings or francs, may be increased or diminished, as the case may be, the actual value of the bullion or coins will not be changed in the least, for no act of Congress or other executive body can repeal or alter the laws of trade or the laws of finance; and every attempt to do so must result in disaster sooner or later.

Gold is the only international money, and all trade balances are settled in gold, or, which is the same thing, on a gold basis, all other forms of currency being adjusted to that standard. It is useless for the advocates of a different system to insist that this ought not to be so; it is so, and we cannot change the fact. But the gold eagle and double eagle are not accorded at a particular valuation in these settlements simply because the United States of America have declared by law that they shall be legal tender at their nominal value, but solely because the bullion contained in them, if uncoined, would be worth everywhere the same amount. This is a great and powerful government, but there is one thing it cannot do—it cannot create money. There are some things, however, which the government can do for the establishment and preservation of a sound and stable currency. In the exercise of its constitutional authority to coin money and regulate the value thereof, it can suspend or limit the coinage of either metal whenever it is ascertained that the coins of the two metals of the same denomination are of unequal value; or it can change their legal ratio so as to make them as nearly equal in value as possible; or it can maintain the parity of its coins by receiving them and their paper representatives in payment of all public duties and discharge all its own obligations in whatever kind of money its creditors may demand.

From all this Mr. Carlisle draws the conclusion that a double standard is impossible. In fact he said he had never been able to understand what is meant by a double standard, and worked off the old story about two yardsticks. Mr. Carlisle went further still, and alleged that "the fluctuations in the value of silver for many years have been so rapid and so great as to demonstrate the fact that it cannot be coined without limitations into money of final redemption at the existing ratio or at any other ratio that might be established."

This is a most astounding declaration from a man who only three years ago was a stout champion of silver coinage in the Senate. If it were not evident before, this speech would make it evident that the Secretary has been completely hypnotised by President Cleveland, and is able to think only in grooves laid down for him by the superior will. For any man to stand up in any place in the civilized world at this end of the Nineteenth century and declare that facts have proved that silver cannot be coined safely into money at the present ratio, or any other ratio, is an evidence either that he is deceived himself, or that he is trying to deceive others. In the very last number of The Review of Reviews, President Andrews, who knows a good deal more about silver and money than Secretary Carlisle ever will know, declares that at the present time free coinage of silver at the ratio of 20 to 1 would be perfectly safe.

It is clear from Mr. Carlisle's speech that the administration thinks it has got this country firmly fixed on a gold monometallic basis for many years to come. This is only one of the many mistakes which the administration is making.

Mr. Carlisle's speech may be useful, but if it is it will be principally in furthering the growth of bimetallic sentiment, and in bringing down upon the head of the administration the just wrath of an outraged people.

In setting himself up against the wishes of the city in the matter of the Chamber of Commerce appropriation, Alderman Finegan does not show his usual public spirit.

Our City's Great Need.

With all the attractions which Colorado Springs offers as a health and pleasure resort; with her balmy climate for the invalid; with her unrivalled drives amidst the grandest of mountain scenery for the pleasure seeker; with her beautiful sister, Manitou, with her famous iron and soda springs, clasping her hand upon the west; with the Garden of the Gods opening at her feet; with the splendid hotel accommodations, ample to care for thousands in easy reach, there is one thing needed and needed badly, and that is a large convention hall.

We have no room in our city which will accommodate a crowd of any size. Annually the different societies, orders, organizations and political parties, State and National, hold their conventions, and yet with all its attractions our city is never mentioned as a suitable place. Why? Because while she has everything else she has no room or building large enough to accommodate the assembled crowd.

Why is it that other cities strive so hard to secure meetings of the character indicated? It is because it is recognized that there is no better way to advertise their different places than by inducing people to visit them and see what they have to offer as inducements for business men to settle among them.

What place has more attractive openings to offer than Colorado Springs and its vicinity? At the present low prices manufacturers of the east offer little to the energetic business man, who is not content to sit idle and let his money out at interest, but prefers the whirl and bustle of business. Our silver mining interests have been, for the present, crippled by recent legislative action, but Colorado people are not made of the kind of stuff which will allow them to sit down and mope and pine over the situation. Crippled as our State is she will rise to the occasion, and, while waiting for the relief which she believes will come to her when the people of our country have spoken, she will turn her attention to other enterprises, to which her climate, her soil, her pastures, her water and her fuel, make her especially adapted. The great gold fields which have been but recently opened within the borders of our own county, are not to be forgotten and offer many inducements for the live man of business.

The depression of business in our midst makes it not feasible at this time to try to raise money by subscription or by the organization of a stock company for the purpose of building such a hall as is our need. But a plan is suggested by which it can be done.

We have as one of our citizens, a gentleman by whose marvelous success a large number of buildings of this character have been erected. I refer to Colonel Lew Ginger, who has recently made his home with us. Within the past few years he has managed enterprises the result of which has been the erection of hospitals, homes for the unfortunate, Grand Army halls and a number of a kindred character.

On the 9th of this month he closed an entertainment at Kansas City, Mo., by which $5,000 was netted for the Daughters of the Confederacy, and enabled them to do much for the Confederate Home in Missouri. By his entertainments over $125,000 has, in the past few years, been placed in the treasuries of posts of the Grand Army of the Republic. He has made this business his life work and he has never failed in a single undertaking. The character of the enterprise or entertainment I do not venture to suggest. What I should like to see now is that the Chamber of Commerce, the Grand Army of the Republic, the Sons of Veterans, and some other of our societies or organizations take hold of this matter and confer with the gentleman named, who I know would gladly aid in this matter, and under their auspices arrange for the entertainment mentioned.

The Keeley League, of which there are one hundred and fifty members in our city, holds its national convention here next fall and we can safely count on their active sympathy and work in this movement. Will not our Chamber of Commerce call a meeting of representative citizens to confer about this matter at some time in the near future? Or if it does not see fit to take hold of the matter will not some other organization take the initiative in a work so meritorious?

We can make it win.

Colonel Buckman, Commander Heron, Captain Robbins, are you ready?

OLE BULL AS A CHILD.

His Midnight Concert Was Applauded With a Whip.

From his earliest childhood Ole Bull was exceedingly sensitive to music. His uncle, who belonged to a quartet club, used, when playing on the violoncello, to put the little fellow in the candy case and keep him there until his nervous excitement made it impossible for him to remain.

In spite of this excitement he narrowly observed all that the players did. He knew the sound of the [illegible] he could name them, and when at the age of 5 his uncle made him the proud possessor of a little scrap of a violin, which he received with kisses and embraces, to every one's amazement he played upon it at once with remarkable correctness.

His next violin was given to him at his earnest solicitation two or three years afterward by his father. He could not sleep for thinking of it. When he heard his father and mother drawing the deep breath of sleep, he rose and lighted a candle and tiptoed to the room where his dear violin lay in order to open the case for one delighted look. "The violin was so red," said he, as Mrs. Child reported, "and the pretty pearl screws did smile at me so! I pinched the strings just a little with my fingers. It smiled at me ever more and more. I took up the bow and looked at it. It said to me that it would be pleasant to try it across the strings. So I did try it—just a very, very little. And it did sing to me so sweetly! Then I did creep farther away from the bedroom. At first I did play very softly. I made very, very little noise. But presently I did begin a capriccio, which I like very much, and it did go ever louder and louder, and I forgot that it is midnight and everybody asleep.

"Presently I hear something go crack! And the next moment I feel my father's whip across my shoulders. My little red violin dropped on the floor and was broken. I weep very much for it, but it did no good. They did have a doctor for it the next day, but it never recovered its health."

His father had meant that he should be a clergyman, and in due time the boy was placed at the University of Gottingen. But it was quite useless—study or not, music would get the upper hand.—Harper's Bazar.

A Rich Russian Brother.

"The house on the right," says Ivan with some pride, "belongs to my brother, who is the richest man in the village. He has five grown up sons, and therefore a large amount of land, four good horses and six cows. He lives well."

"Does he drink?" we inquire.

"Of course he does," says Ivan, "hard on holidays, but he's a good worker and with five [illegible] work in town. Three of his are laborers and most of their wages come home. As for the land, my brother and his [illegible] and their wives can easily cultivate it. Ah, Barin, it's a great thing for a man [illegible] concern, and pay well."

"Is your rich brother at work today?" we asked.

Ivan made a thoroughly [illegible] gesture of horror; [illegible] upon the ground with unnecessary vehemence and then crossed himself.

"The Barin is pleased to joke," he said. "It is a holiday; my brother and his sons are not sinners; they do not work on a holiday. They are all at the kabak, as they should be."

"Drunk?" I ventured.

"Drunk, Barin, certainly!" said Ivan. "Why, what would you have?"—Temple Bar.

Vastness of Numbers.

Numbers beyond certain limits cease to convey any meaning to the human mind, however well developed it be, and try to grasp the great and the vast! Take the number expressed by the word "million," the sound of which is familiar enough to most of us in a country that, more than any other, abounds in millionaires, but the reality of which in the shape of money is somewhat vague and, to the majority of human beings, awe inspiring. If a man were to count 1,000,000 of $1 bills it would take him eight days to accomplish this task, devoting 18 hours of uninterrupted daily work to it and employing the other six for eating his meals and for taking the necessary nocturnal rest.

Still, great as the number of 1,000,000 really is, we have a more or less adequate conception of it and its multiples to a certain extent. Even 1,000,000,000—that is, a thousand millions—has within this century assumed a familiar sound, though but few persons are capable of realizing its magnitude. With a billion number becomes somewhat vague and approaches what in mathematical parlance is called the "indefinitely great." It is easy enough to pronounce the word, not being very long and easy to spell, but its actual magnitude begins to bewilder the mind. If we were to express the distance of the nearest fixed star in that unit by which we are wont to measure terrestrial distances—the mile—the number would convey no meaning to our minds and would leave imagination itself powerless.—Baltimore Sun.

Horse Language.

My horse has a low whinny which means "water," and a higher keyed, more emphatic neigh means "food." When I hear these sounds, I know as definitely what she means as if she spoke in English. This morning, passing along the street, I heard that same low whinny, and looking up saw a strange horse regarding me with a pleading look. I knew he was suffering from thirst, and no language could make it plainer. The language of the lower animals is not all articulate. It is largely a sign language. The horse does a deal of talking by motions of the head, and by his wonderfully expressive looks. He also, up to a [illegible], talks with the other extremity. A peculiar switch of the tail and a gesture, as if threatening to kick, are equal forms of speech. The darky was not far wrong who said of the kicking mule, "It's just his way of talking."—Science.

Wanted to Finish the Job.

Six urchins in old togs were shooting craps on the sidewalk in front of a business house the other evening when the manager of the establishment came along.

"Boys," he said, "this will never do. You'll have to move away from here."

"Please don't break up de game just now, mister," pleaded the businesslike urchin with the muffler about his neck. "Dere's only one kid wot ain't broke!"—Chicago Tribune.

Diamond Cut Diamond.

Two queer looking creatures sat at a cafe table sipping their coffee. One of them, while talking, played carelessly with his spoon, a silver spoon. He turned it over and over, dropped it, picked it up again and, [illegible] when he thought nobody was looking, he [illegible] into the [illegible]. But the other [illegible] it, and then, [illegible] lifting a spoon [illegible] his turn, [illegible] "Gentlemen, [illegible] show you a pretty conjuring trick. SEVEN MAGAZINES IN ONE!

ST. NICHOLAS FOR YOUNG FOLKS.

"Wide Awake" now Merged in it.

Enlarged by 200 additional pages in the volume. Everything Illustrated.

Of all publications for boys and girls, St. Nicholas, conducted by Mary Mapes Dodge, is unquestionably the best. It has been praised by the press and the people of two continents; its circulation is unprecedented among magazines for young folks. Beginning with the number for November, 1893, it is enlarged by the addition of about 200 pages in the volume, and for 1893-94 it will have the greatest programme in its history, including brilliantly illustrated describing the quadrupeds of North America in a popular way, by W. T. Hornaday, recently chief taxidermist of the U. S. National Museum;

A Natural History Series,

"Tom Sawyer Abroad,"

A SERIAL STORY BY MARK TWAIN,

in which the great humorist's famous creations "Tom Sawyer" and "Huckleberry Finn" visit the eastern hemisphere (in a flying machine); a series on by Brander Matthews, setting forth in clear and simple form the main biographical facts and the chief literary qualities of famous men in American literature, including Irving, Cooper, Bryant, Hawthorne, Emerson, Lowell, etc.

Stories of India by Rudyard Kipling.

When Rudyard Kipling was a boy in India he used to read St. Nicholas, and now he takes his turn at bringing delight to the thousands of young folk who read it to-day. He has written for St. Nicholas a series of remarkable stories of boy and girl life in the jungle and with animals.

"Recollections of Wild Life," by Dr. Charles Eastman, a full-blooded Sioux Indian, and a graduate of a white man's college (Dartmouth); a description of Indian life—in camp and on the warpath—described from the inside. A novelty in literature.

Papers on the Government.

Bald Heads!

What is the condition of yours? Is your hair dry, harsh, brittle? Does it split at the ends? Has it a lifeless appearance? Does it fall out when combed or brushed? Is it full of dandruff? Does your scalp itch? Is it dry or in a heated condition? If these are some of your symptoms be warned in time or you will become bald.

Skookum Root Hair Grower is what you need. Its production is not an accident, but the result of scientific research. Knowledge of the diseases of the hair and scalp led to the discovery of how to treat them. "Skookum" contains neither minerals nor oils. It is not a Dye, but a delightfully cooling and refreshing Tonic. By stimulating the follicles, it stops falling hair, cures dandruff and grows hair on bald heads.

Keep the scalp clean, healthy, and free from irritating eruptions, by the use of Skookum Skin Soap. It destroys parasitic insects, which feed on and destroy the hair.

If your druggist cannot supply you send direct to us, and we will forward prepaid, on receipt of price. Grower, $1.00 per bottle; 6 for $5.00. Soap, 50c. per jar; 6 for $2.50.

Walter Besant on Critics.

Walter Besant, in discussing the subject of critics and criticism in The Author, says: "My own theory on the general subject of reviewing—a theory which I do not expect to be universally accepted as yet—is this: The work of a critic never ought to be intrusted to the first novice that is recommended to the editor. If an aspiring critic is as yet unproved by published work, he should furnish some proof to the editor of culture, reading, knowledge of standards, knowledge of the works of writers, living as well as dead, and of special qualifications and special knowledge, if he has any."

There are no fewer than 19 King streets in London, without reckoning any there may be in the suburbs, and Queen is the designation given to 34 streets and squares. Eleven George streets are still permitted to bewilder people, and a dozen William streets add to the confusion.

Probably the youngest policeman in the country is 5-year-old Louis Clairing, who is the mascot of the Charles street station in New York. The lad wears a complete uniform, answers the roll call and turns out with the night platoon.

Amber blazes like resin when light is applied. Great quantities have been consumed in the unbroken worship of 13 centuries at Mecca, the sacred city of Moslems.

Persons who travel will find that cold cream or vaseline will remove the streaks of grime on their faces with much greater ease than soap and water.

The edible dogs of China are known by their bluish-black tongues. They never bark and are very taciturn. Four million and a half are slaughtered annually to titillate the palates of the Celestials.

WITH YOUR HANDS TIED by some disabling female complaint or weakness, what can you expect? There's nothing you can accomplish—nothing you can enjoy. And no good reason for it. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will cure you, safely and certainly, if you'll give it faithful use.

For every one of these womanly troubles, this is the only remedy so sure that it can be guaranteed. In periodical pains, bearing-down sensations, organic displacements, and every kindred ailment, and in all the nervous disorders caused by functional derangements—if it ever fails to benefit or cure, you have your money back.

It's a potent remedy for Chorea or St. Vitus's Dance—for Insomnia or Inability to Sleep and to avert threatened insanity. It regulates all the natural functions, builds up and invigorates the entire female system, and restores health and strength.

Nothing else, though it may be better for a dealer to sell, can be "just as good" for you to buy.

UNION PACIFIC.

Effective October 15th, the Union Pacific will place on sale to Portland, and California points and return at $60.00, tickets to be limited to 15 days in each direction, with final limit to April 30th 1894. Stopovers will be allowed in California and beyond Huntington, Ore., within the limit of ticket, regardless of the transit limit. For further information apply to W. G. RICE, City Ticket Agent, No. 14 Pike's Peak avenue.

Taking effect October 15th, the Union Pacific will place on sale round trip tickets to all principal points in Texas, Louisiana and Mexico. Remember that this is the only line running through sleepers to Fort Worth, Dallas and New Orleans. For further information apply to W. G. RICE, City Ticket Agent.

Taking effect from November 1st, 1893, the Union Pacific R'y will place on sale one-way tickets to Council Bluffs, Kansas City, St. Joe and Atchison at $10.75; Sioux City, $11.75. The rates on tickets to Texas points have been greatly reduced; round trip tickets to all principal Southern points at very low rates. Remember, this is the only line running through sleepers to New Orleans, Fort Worth, and Dallas, and by far the shortest. For any information apply to W. G. Rice, city ticket agent, 14 Pike's Peak avenue.

MISSOURI PACIFIC.

After the Fair is over the great Missouri Pacific Railway Company will still continue the cheap rates to all Eastern points, using the following rates for basing purposes—

From Pueblo, Colorado Springs and Denver to:

Kansas City	$1? 75
St. Louis	1? 25
Chicago	2? 25

A direct connection is made at Pueblo, Colorado Springs, Manitou and Denver with The Missouri Pacific "Fast Mail," connecting in all Union Depots for New York, Boston, Washington, Memphis, New Orleans, and Hot Springs, Ark. Only one change of cars between Colorado and New York City.

Pullman Buffet Sleepers, with circulating library; also elegant free reclining chair cars of the latest model.

Traveling Passenger Agent, Denver.

CHANGE IN TIME OF THE
"MISSOURI PACIFIC FAST-MAIL."

Commencing Nov. 12, 1893, the great Missouri Pacific Railway Company will shorten the time of its fast mail train, eastbound. Under the new schedule this justly popular train will leave Denver at 4 p. m., Colorado Springs at 6:25 p. m., arrive at Pueblo at 7:10 p. m., leave Pueblo at 8 p. m., arrive Kansas City 7:30 p. m., leave Kansas City at 8:25 p. m., and arrive at St. Louis at 6:55 a. m., where a direct connection is made in Union depot for all points north, east or south.

By this change in time a direct connection is made at Pueblo with D. & R. G. Train No. 4, from the west, and D. & R. G. Train No. 104, from Southwestern Colorado, enabling passengers to make a great saving in time over the present eastern connection.

By this change in time the great Missouri Pacific Railway Co. has demonstrated its warm friendship toward Colorado in again reducing the time between the West and East.

THE WABASH ROUTE

IF YOU ARE GOING EAST

It will be to your advantage to know:

The Wabash is the short Line between Kansas City and St. Louis.

The Wabash is the shortest and most direct route between Kansas City and Detroit or Toledo, connecting at both those points with the Trunk Lines East.

The Wabash forms the most convenient route from western points to Chicago, and lands passengers in Chicago more conveniently to the World's Fair lines than any other road.

The Wabash runs finer equipment for both first and second class passengers than any other route.

Call or write C. M. Hampson, Commercial Agent, 1224 17th St., Denver.

MID-WINTER FAIR.

The Mid-winter Fair at San Francisco will open on January 1st, and continue throughout the winter, where all the principal exhibits from the Columbian Exposition, Chicago, will be displayed, will be an additional attraction this winter. The great improvement in passenger train service, higher degree of comfort in the cars, shorter time required on the trip, combined with the cheapness of the excursion tickets now being sold to California and back by the "Santa Fe Route," make the journey agreeable, and one can almost say, economical.

The many delightful resorts now established in California afford every comfort and luxury desired by the fastidious, and present unique attractions. The Hotel Del Coronado, San Diego; the Raymond, Pasadena; the Redondo beach and hotels at Santa Barbara, Monterey, Riverside, Los Angeles and many other points have grown famous as any on the Atlantic coast, and a fact that should not be forgotten is that they all are resorts all the year round, although the greatest number of tourists are in California between the months of November and May.

This line offers choice of routes going and returning.

THE BURLINGTON.

THE POPULAR EAST-BOUND NIGHT TRAIN

Is the Burlington flyer leaving Denver daily at 8:20 p. m., arriving in Chicago at 8:25 a. m. and St. Louis at 7:10 a. m. the second morning making close connection with all fast trains for East and South. For full information call on any railroad ticket agent or address G. W. VALLERY, General Agent, 1700 Larimer st., Denver, Colo.

Ripans Tabules.

Disease commonly comes on with slight symptoms, which when neglected increase in extent and gradually grow dangerous.

If you suffer from Headache, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, TAKE RIPANS TABULES
If you are Bilious, Constipated, or have a Disordered Liver, TAKE RIPANS TABULES
If your Complexion is Sallow, or you suffer Distress after Eating, TAKE RIPANS TABULES
For Offensive Breath and all Disorders of the Stomach, TAKE RIPANS TABULES

Ripans Tabules act gently but promptly upon the liver, stomach and intestines; cleanse the system effectually; cure dyspepsia, habitual constipation, offensive breath and headache. One Tabule taken at the first indication of indigestion, biliousness, dizziness, distress after eating or depression of spirits, will surely and quickly remove the whole difficulty.

Ripans Tabules are prepared from a prescription widely used by the best physicians, and are presented in the form most approved by modern science.

If given a fair trial Ripans Tabules are an infallible cure; they contain nothing injurious and are an economical remedy.

One Gives Relief.

A quarter-gross box will be sent, postage paid, on receipt of 75 cents by the wholesale and retail agents.

THE PALACE DRUG STORE, 16th and Curtis Sts.,
Denver, Colo.

Local Druggists everywhere will supply the Tabules if requested to do so.

They are easy to take, quick to act and save many a doctor's bill.

Samples free on application to the Ripans Chemical Company,
New York City.

REMARKABLE DISTRIBUTION OF

Standard Books!

AT NOMINAL PRICES,

And that can only be made possible by our co-operation for the benefit of our readers. These books cannot be obtained at less than wholesale price in any other way than as described below.

We take pleasure in announcing to our readers that we have made a contract whereby we can furnish them with standard books at absolutely less than wholesale prices. The books which we offer each week are by world-famous writers, and are printed from absolutely new type made specially for these works. The books are bound by an entirely new process which does away with the old style of thread or wire binding. Each leaf is bound into the book separately and amalgamated with the whole, allowing the book to lie perfectly flat when open, giving ease and comfort to the reader.

Each week we will announce a new book. Save your coupons as we will be sure to announce books which you will not fail to order.

WE CHANGE NUMBER EVERY ISSUE.

The members of the C. B. Ferrin Hose company have arranged to give away two handsome oil paintings by Mr. Charles Craig, on the evening of Jan. 4, 1894.

Regular meeting of Myrtle lodge No. 31, K. of P., to-night at 7:30 o'clock sharp. Work in Knight rank and other important business. All visiting knights cordially invited.

The ladies of Colorado City have solicited contributions sufficient to permit a poor family named Hagerman at that place to resume housekeeping. Their house was destroyed by fire last week.

In the County court yesterday judgment in the sum of $310 was given plaintiffs in the suit of Kohlberg Bros. vs. W. O. Burnside. The jury in the case of Palmer vs. Phillips has not yet returned its verdict.

It is evident that the residents of the Hawaiian islands are not greatly concerned over any political disturbances there or at least were not when the last steamers sailed. Letters were received from Mr. Paul De La Vergne of this city and others residing there, in which no mention is made of politics or of the country's affairs.

Attention is called to the advertisement on the second page of the beautiful Oxford teacher's Bible, the latest addition to The Gazette's premium list. It will be found satisfactory in every respect and an examination is invited. Only a small number were received in the first order and persons wishing them would do well to apply early this morning.

Attention is called to the book coupon notice on page three of this paper. The GAZETTE received a large shipment of the books yesterday and they can be had by bringing three coupons to this office. The books that have been received are Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 7, 8, 10, 11, 12, 13, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20 and 21. The last number is an entirely new book entitled "One of the Profession," by Matthew White, Jr.

A fire broke out in the D. & R. G. depot last Wednesday morning about 9 o'clock which caused quite a stir in town. [illegible] would have destroyed the building but for the prompt assistance of the people who turned out en masse at the first alarm. The building was saved, but considerable damage was done both to the building and the household goods of Agent Thompson who lives in the building.—[Monument Messenger.

MINES AND STOCKS.

Mollie Gibson slumped slightly yesterday with the continued decline in silver. It was held at $1.92½ bid with $1.95 asked.

Anaconda was held at 25c with very little offered. Work was quoted at 11¼c. Alamo is at 11¼c and becoming scarcer every day. Lottie Gibson is held at 25.

It is stated that Mr. H. Collbran has taken a lease on the Lottie Gibson and that that is the reason the stock has advanced lately.

The lessees of the Mineral Farm at Aspen is reported to be shipping some fair ore. A shipment made Saturday is said to have run 93 7-10 ounces and netted 45 per cent.

An adverse suit filed yesterday in the District court is entitled The Nugget Mining and Milling Co. vs. The Gold Standard Mining and Tunnel Co., the Elizabeth Cooper lode adversing the North Star.

Calumet was strong yesterday at 4¼ cents. Nothing definite concerning the meeting of the directors could be learned further than that the attorney of the company is examining the books to decide whether another loan can be made to secure money with which to resume work.

W. E. Ladd came down from Difficult camp yesterday afternoon where he had been for three days looking after the interests of himself and partners. There is four to five feet of snow on the level and considerable difficulty was experienced in getting in and out of camp with a horse. Ladd & Crockett's two leases are looking well and perhaps two tons of good ore from the Gold Star is on the dump ready for shipment when the weather will permit. The shaft on the vein of the Gold Star is now down thirty-five feet and they have begun to drift on the vein. Some very fine specimens showing free gold were brought down by Mr. Ladd and are on exhibition at his office. Mr. Waincott of Kansas City, who has been in the camp for several days, returned to the East on last night's Rio Grande.—[Aspen Times.

The stock market yesterday was decidedly lively in so far as the volume of trading is concerned, although there was a slight decline all along the line. The sensation of the day was in Isabella. In fact, the bottom dropped out of it. Three of the best known firms had large blocks of it for sale, and it was stated last night that 100,000 shares had been sold. The stock dropped suddenly from 20 to 15 cents, but by evening reacted to 16 cents bid, where it is held pretty firm. The charge was made openly that it was nothing more than a stock jobbing deal, but the fact that some of the stock turned have bore the names of men on the inside and who are not given to such deals seemed to contradict this statement. The stock has been very strong and active for the past ten days and reached 29 cents one day last week. It has been confidently stated that they would soon open the Victor vein, so that many people are wondering what could have happened to cause anyone to get from under.

District Court.

Following was among the business transacted in the District Court yesterday:

First National bank of Wichita, Kan., vs. Kurrie; default and judgment for $[illegible].

Same vs. Same; judgment for $311.15.

Motion for new trial in Peltz vs. Hock over-ruled.

Kopf & Simpson have just received a lot of new grape fruits, new chestnuts, quinces and new figs.

OUR DELEGATION OPPOSES.

Most of Them Have now Expressed an Opinion Against an Extra Session.

Representative Reynolds of this county is not at home and his opinion of an extra session cannot be secured, while Representative Baldwin is at Woodland Park, but it is pretty certain that our entire delegation opposes such action. Senator Leddy said yesterday that he has been in Denver and finds that there is great opposition among the Senators with whom he has talked regarding the extra session. Senator Leddy expressed the opinion that radical legislation of any kind cannot be put through at this time.—He does not believe that the Governor will propose any silver legislation as has been suggested. He does not believe that the mere calling of the legislature together will do any harm, and says wait until it is learned what the Governor proposes before taking any action.

Senator McGovney says that he has no doubt that the Governor has politics back of what he is doing. He thinks the Governor will issue a call that will ring with words of pity for the poor and those who are out of work. Then he will propose measures that the legislature cannot possibly adopt, and next year will go before the people telling of all the great things he would have done if the legislature had only aided him.

It is said that among the things proposed is to establish a new county at Cripple Creek, cutting it out of El Paso, and that the Governor when at camp during the campaign called the committee together that tried to work that scheme through last year. Mr. McGovney says that the more the papers and the business men oppose the session the surer the Governor is to call it.

College Entertainment.

The repair fund of Colorado College received a very satisfactory addition from the proceeds of the entertainment given in the High school auditorium last evening. The students of the college, who gave the entertainment, acquitted themselves with credit and the large audience was very heartily pleased with each selection. One of the most pleasing numbers was "Mother Goose and her Children," given by a number of young ladies in quaint and pretty costumes; each acted and sang her part very nicely.

Another good number was given by the Minervans representing "Minerva and Her Followers." They were very successful in their portrayal of the various arts and sciences. Three young ladies in flowing costumes—three little maids from school—made a very pleasing picture. "The House That Jack Built," was given by a number of young ladies and gentlemen, and as the "house" progressed through its various stages it was a very laughable affair. Several very good selections were given by the College Banjo club and others by the Hagerman Hall quartette. The High School Glee club also contributed several good songs.

The mock trial in which Miss Melinda McGregor sought and finally obtained the hand of Augustus Smyth Van Alen, after the suit for breach of promise, was the latter half of the evening's entertainment and proved very amusing throughout. The lawyers, witnesses, jurors (male and female), judge, sheriff and clerk all contributed to the fun.

The Future of Wheat.

Wheatgrowers and wheat jobbers, if the term is permissible, are slowly coming to the belief that that product is not to be so much looked upon in the future as a prime necessity as it was ten or a dozen years ago, or before there had been an enormous growth in the canned goods business and before corn and oats and rye were recognized as a part of the possible appointments even of an epicure's table. Ten years ago there were but three or four generally recognized ways of preparing cornmeal so as to make it palatable.

Twenty years ago about the only people in the world who did not feed all their oats to horses were the Scotch. Today oat flakes are almost as much of an essential on the breakfast table as coffee. About the only consumers of rye as an article of food 20 years ago were the Germans. Schwartzbrod is now almost as common on an essentially American table as is bread made from bolted wheat flour. There is no question that enormous quantities of wheat are still consumed, but not such quantities as the growth in population would warrant one in expecting would be consumed. The world has found substitutes for bread to the degree that what is known as a "square meal" is [illegible] consumed into which the staff of life does not enter at all. If this condition continues and other substitutes for bread come into use, is there any reason for believing that the price of wheat will ever get back to the big figures that were wont to make the heart of the wheatgrower glad?—Cincinnati Times-Star.

Big Elevator.

The largest elevator in the world—in fact, there are [illegible] of [illegible] may be seen at Weehawken, where the passengers for the West Shore line are lifted by hydraulic power 155 feet to a trestle structure where they take the trains. Each car will accommodate from 150 to 200 people. Immense elevators on a similar plan are being built at Glasgow for the tunnel under the Clyde. The highest single elevator is the one in the Washington monument, which is worked by steam, the chain being [illegible] up in safety while [illegible] in speed.—Boston Globe.

DISSOLUTION OF CO-PARTNERSHIP.

The partnership heretofore existing between Slaughter Bassett and J. H. Fitzpatrick under the firm name of Bassett & Fitzpatrick, has this day been dissolved by mutual consent, Mr. J. H. Fitzpatrick retiring. Either partner is authorized to sign the firm name in liquidation and settling up unfinished business of the late firm.

SLAUGHTER BASSETT,
J. H. FITZPATRICK.

Referring to the above notice, I wish to return thanks to my friends and the public for the liberal patronage bestowed upon the firm of Bassett & Fitzpatrick, and I bespeak for my former partner a continuance of same for the future.

J. H. FITZPATRICK.

I desire to announce to the public that I shall continue to transact a Real Estate, Insurance and Stock Brokerage business at the offices formerly occupied by Bassett & Fitzpatrick, and solicit a continuance of the patronage of the public so liberally bestowed upon the late firm.
